

Why You Should Enter

The Engineering Excellence Awards Program is about much more than just winning! It is a marketing tool, promotion for the engineering profession, and recognition of your client, project team, and staff. Some benefits of entering include:

- ALL entries demonstrate their firm's quality of work (and listing of winning award may be relevant in future proposals!)
- ALL entries will receive a plaque (great for displaying!) Additional plaques can be ordered for all project team participants, i.e. clients, architects, contractors, etc.
- Winners will be featured in The Georgia Engineering Magazine.
- All winners will be announced in the Atlanta Business Chronicle February Issue. The Grand winner and State winners have received high visibility with photo and interviews.
- ALL participating firms are listed in the Engineering Excellence Awards Banquet program and recognized at the Georgia E-Week banquet.
- Finalists' projects will be displayed at the E-Week banquet.
- Participating provides a great opportunity to recognize the entire project team, including your personnel, project architects, clients, and others.
- Mailing of Press releases of Grand and State award winners will be coordinated with your firm, upon request.
- All ACEC/G entries will be published in ACEC/G's newsletter, Management Update.
- The Grand Award Winner and State Award Winners for ACEC/G will be featured with pictures in ACEC/G's 2010 Directory.
- The Grand Award and State Award Winners for ACEC/G will be featured on ACEC/G's website.
- Winners who are not ACEC/G members may be eligible to participate in other national association competitions.
- PR opportunity for winners who are not ACEC/G members to submit their winning entry in other association publications or company newsletter.
- If your project goes to national and wins a national award, you and your project will be featured in the ACEC magazine.
- National winners will be honored at the "Academy Awards" at the Grand Hyatt Hotel in Washington, D.C. in April 2010.
- Winning the Grand Award, a State Award, or an Honor Award is a great opportunity to be creative with ways to promote your firm.
